

Dear Westminster Alumni,

Here are a few quick updates that we thought you should know about:

Ingrid Clarfield

Professor of Piano Ingrid Clarfield is recovering from a motor stroke at St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center, 2381 Lawrenceville Rd, Lawrenceville, NJ 08648. She has asked that you be told that she continues to be "feisty" and to show her sense of humor. Adult visitors are welcome between the hours of 3 and 8 pm. Her room is 320B. Cards and get well wishes are appreciated, and may be sent to the center.

New York Philharmonic Broadcasts Messiah

The Westminster Symphonic Choir's December 2006 performance of Handel's Messiah is included in the latest New York Philharmonic radio broadcast. If you've missed it in your area, you can still hear it on the New York Philharmonic Web site through April 20. Links to the broadcast schedule are also on that page.

Metropolitan Opera Update

We've learned that Metropolitan Opera Finalists Kiera Duffy '01, MM'03 and Dísella Làrusdóttir MM'05 will be included in a documentary about the competition that will air during the Met's April 28 broadcast of Il Trittico in movie theaters around the world. Two other Westminster alumnae will sing in this Met performance. Jennifer Check '97 will sing the role of Nella in Gianni Schicchi, and Leah Wool '99 will make her Met debut as a novice in Suor Angelica.

Information about purchasing tickets for the movie theater broadcasts is on the Met Web site.

Have a blessed Easter weekend.
