

A concept map is a tool to help us organize our thoughts on complex topics. The goal of a concept map is to create a visual representation of connections between concepts. For this assignment I want you to make a concept map of your literature review as it relates to your research question. Below are the guidelines for this concept map:

1. Begin by placing your research question in the middle of the concept map.
2. Identify the key variables of interest in your research question and place them on separate parts of the map with areas connecting them to each other and the research question indicating causal relationships and correlations.
3. Lastly, design a conceptual map using your "Content, form, and function outline" as a framework.
