SERVICE LEARNING PROJECT LOCATIONS

* Baytree Centre, Brixton, South London: The Baytree Centre was set up in 1991 in the heart of Brixton (South London) to provide women and girls with educational and training programmes, helping local families gain social inclusion. Baytree maintains a community atmosphere promoting goodwill, respect, and mutual understanding. The Baytree community is multicultural and international in outlook.

* Castlehaven Community Association, Camden, North London: The Castlehaven Community Association (CCA), a registered charity and was established in 1985 as a community charity that provides activities, classes and facilities across the age ranges. It is set in four acres of public open space which includes three buildings, two community gardens, with an enclosed children’s play area, flood lit sport facilities for the local people and the wider Camden communities. CCA is a popular and successful community association and this is reflected in the wide use of its activities and facilities. The centre is open 9.30am to 9.30pm for projects, service and activity delivery during the week, and, during the weekend it is accessed by other organisations delivering services to the community. CCA aims to inspire and empower people of all ages, cultures and abilities to strive, both mentally and physically to achieve their full potential. CCA staff have worked hard to gain a reputation for delivering quality services to local people and a willingness to ‘try something new’ by piloting new projects; these have included the first role out of the Sure Start Project, the Youth Inclusion Projects, work with vulnerable older people and many more one off locally responsive initiatives.

Sports and recreational facilities, promoting events and improvements to premises have all grown apace in the last few years.
