Calculating Your Educational Costs

To help you and your family with budgeting your educational expenses, we are providing estimated tuition, fees, and room and board charges to attend Rider University in 2014-2015.*

Financial aid packages are developed based on the full projected cost of attendance, including average indirect expenses a Rider University student might incur during the nine-month academic year. Indirect costs vary based on individual needs, for items such as books, supplies, transportation and incidentals. Typical allowances for indirect expenses are $3,500 for resident students and $6,100 for commuters.

We encourage you to work with Rider’s Office of Financial Aid to explore every opportunity to help finance your education.

NOTE: Please retain this guide for future reference throughout your academic career at Rider University.

During these challenging economic times, Rider University is committed to making its educational opportunities as affordable and accessible as possible. An important way we do so is by offering a wide range of generous, merit-based and need-based awards for qualified students. Below is an outline of some of the many sources of aid that can help reduce your educational expenses.

Financial Aid Programs Administered by Rider University

Rider University-Funded Aid

Scholarships
Merit-based scholarships are awarded to students upon admission to Rider. These scholarships are annually renewable up to four years, provided that the academic requirements specified in your acceptance letter are maintained. If you receive a financial aid award letter prior to the receipt of a scholarship or any other financial assistance, these resources will be incorporated into the pre-existing award letter. Scholarships will not be added to an existing financial aid award letter without a complete re-evaluation.

In order to continue receiving a merit-based scholarship each year, you must maintain continuous, full-time enrollment and a minimum Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA). If you do not meet the CGPA requirement at the end of the academic year, you will not continue to receive the scholarship until the CGPA requirement is satisfied. If you achieve the required CGPA at the conclusion of the fall semester, one-half of the scholarship will be awarded for the spring semester. If lost, a scholarship can be reinstated only once.

Rider Recognition Award
Rider University is proud to offer the Rider Recognition Award to acknowledge students who, upon acceptance, demonstrate the propensity to do well at the University. These awards are renewable up to four years provided the academic requirements specified in the admission letter and full-time enrollment are maintained. However, if a student fails to meet these requirements upon completion of an academic year, the award is lost and cannot be received again.

Rider Grant
Rider Grant is awarded to students who demonstrate financial need. A student should not expect the same Rider Grant amount each year because demonstrated need is reassessed yearly. In addition, the amount of funding varies from year to year. Eligibility for this award is estimated using the information reported on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

Although the Rider Grant is a need-based financial award, students should be aware that more Rider Grant funds may be awarded to students with higher GPAs. The annual University budgets are a key factor in determining grant allotments; therefore, it is imperative that you file the FAFSA by the priority deadline date of March 1 to ensure full consideration.

Athletic Aid
As an NCAA Division I school, student athletes at Rider may be awarded scholarships based on athletic ability. Awarded athletic scholarships must comply with NCAA regulations. Students are required to complete the FAFSA annually.

Transfer and International Scholarships
Transfer undergraduate students may be offered scholarships based on their previous academic performance. First-year international students are also eligible to be considered for renewable scholarships. Need-based aid is not available to international students.

Federal and State Aid
Your eligibility for the following programs is determined based on the information that you and your family report on the FAFSA. You must comply with all program requirements to receive these funds. Please be certain to follow up on all requests for information from government agencies. Grants do not require repayment, but loans must be repaid.

Federal Pell Grant
Funded by the federal government, eligibility for the Pell Grant is determined by filing the FAFSA. An estimate of eligibility is provided in your award letter.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG)
The federal government funds this grant for undergraduates with exceptional financial need. The award amount is based on Rider’s allotment as determined by the federal government.

Federal Direct Stafford Loans
These loans are obtained from, and insured by, the federal government. You are required to begin repayment on these loans within six months after you leave school or if you enroll less than half-time (typically six credits). These loans carry a fixed interest rate.
The Federal Direct Subsidized Loan is for undergraduate students who demonstrate financial need. The federal government pays the interest while you are in school, during authorized periods of deferment and during the grace period.

The Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loan is for students borrowing more than the annual limit for the Federal Direct Subsidized Loan, or for students ineligible to borrow some or all of the Federal Direct Subsidized Loan as determined by their financial need. The difference is that you, rather than the federal government, are responsible for the interest payments while you are in school. You have the option to capitalize the interest (add it to your loan balance) and defer payments until after graduation.

Federal Perkins Loan
Funds from this loan program come primarily from repayments by previous Rider University borrowers, and from contributions by Rider and the federal government. This loan has a fixed interest rate of 5.00%. Interest does not accrue while you are in school. Repayment begins nine months after you complete your education or you become enrolled less than half-time. Your student account will be credited after you sign the promissory note.

Federal Work-Study and Campus Employment Programs
At Rider, all interested students are encouraged to seek student employment. Employment on campus is a great opportunity to be part of the Rider community while earning income to meet your day-to-day expenses. Wages are paid directly to you for the hours actually worked. Unlike other forms of financial aid, these funds are not credited to your student account. Students with demonstrated financial need are paid through federal work study funds, as reflected on your award letter. If you have been offered work-study and plan to accept the offer, be sure to attend Rider’s Job Fair in September.

New Jersey Grants and Scholarships
New Jersey’s Tuition Aid Grant (TAG) is a need-based grant to assist state residents in meeting college costs at New Jersey institutions. It cannot be used to attend out-of-state institutions. By completing the FAFSA, the New Jersey Higher Education Student Assistance Authority (HESAA) will automatically receive and process your financial information to determine your eligibility for TAG. Moreover, HESAA offers a variety of other grant and scholarship opportunities to qualified New Jersey students. Once you finalize your college choice, it is your responsibility to notify HESAA of your decision. Similarly, you must satisfy all requests from HESAA for additional information.

Other State Grants
Some states may allow students to carry state aid with them to colleges outside of their home state. If applicable, check with your guidance counselor on how to file for assistance.

Financing Options
There’s no greater investment you can make in your future than the investment you make in your education. To help with your planning, Rider University offers a variety of options to supplement available financial aid, including payment plans and alternative loan programs. These programs are summarized below. Detailed information and applications are available in the University’s Office of Financial Aid, which is located in the Bart Luedeke Center, and online at www.rider.edu/finaid. We hope you will find these materials helpful.

Monthly Tuition Payment Plan
Rider University offers this simple, inexpensive and convenient means of dividing the annual cost of college into 10 interest-free monthly installments. There is a five-month plan available for students enrolling for spring only.

Alternative Loans (Parents and/or Students)
Educational loans for parents of undergraduate students are available through the Federal Direct PLUS Loan program. Additionally, many lenders offer private student loan programs to supplement federal loans. Families may borrow these credit-based loans in varying amounts up to a maximum of the full cost of attendance, less financial aid. Interest rates, repayment options and borrower eligibility differ according to the loan product and provider. These loans can be combined with other financing options to help meet the cost of attendance.

Your financial aid counselor can help you understand the various borrowing options available to meet your needs. Rider maintains information on loan products and participating lenders. If you would like assistance in selecting a lender, please visit Rider’s website at www.rider.edu/finaid or call our help desk at 609-896-5360.
If you accept the award amounts listed on your financial aid application, you must notify Rider’s Office of Financial Aid of your decision. Tuition Aid Grant (TAG): Dependent Students: Independent Students:

If you are declining or reducing any part of your estimated aid, a letter will be sent to you indicating the amounts offered.

1. If you accept the award amounts listed on your financial aid notification letter and agree to their terms and conditions, it is not necessary to return the letter. Financial aid funds will pay into your account on the first day of classes if your verification is complete and all other necessary documents (including loan promissory notes) have been received.

2. You must notify Rider’s Office of Financial Aid of outside grants or scholarships that you receive, such as from a community group, company scholarship fund, etc. These must be considered as part of your total financial aid award.

3. If you are declining or reducing any part of your estimated award letter, you must notify Rider in writing.

Renewing Your Financial Aid: Applying Annually

Because the awarding of financial aid is an annual process, you must reapply each year to be considered for need-based aid and other resources requiring submission of the FAFSA. You will also be required to meet the minimum standards for satisfactory academic progress. Detailed information appears in The Source (Rider’s student handbook) and in the University Catalog.

Rewarding Academic Performance and Student Leadership

How you perform this year can help make next year even more affordable. The Rider Advantage is an incentive grant to help bridge the tuition gap between your first and second year of college. Eligible full-time students who demonstrate leadership qualities, develop a career assessment plan and maintain a 3.2 CGPA during the freshman year will receive a renewable grant that matches the actual difference in tuition between their first and second year in college. Rider also rewards student achievement with endowed scholarships provided through the generosity of University donors.
